THE ARMORY 1911-A1 • M1A™

PAST, PRESENT, & FUTURE

George Washington ordered the creation of Springfield Armory® in 1777 to store revolutionary ammunition and gun carriages.

In 1794 the armory began the manufacture of muskets for a young country. For the next 150 years, Springfield Armory® functioned as a supplier for every major American conflict as well as a “think tank” for new firearm concepts. In 1968, citing budgetary concerns, the U.S. Government closed Springfield Armory®. Now, the walls of Springfield Armory® would house historians, paying homage to the past rather than those with an eye to the future...until 1974, when a passionate family by the name of Reese would rescue not only the name “Springfield Armory®,” but the philosophy that drove it for centuries.

With reverence for the legacy of the Armory, the Reese family resurrected the most historically significant designs produced by The Armory- M1 Garand, 1911-A1, M14 –and fueled by the same obsession for improved manufacturing techniques and cutting edge design that inspired the likes of John C. Garand, and John Browning, they’ve continued to develop products that are loyal to Springfield Armory’s heritage while ensuring The Armory’s place in the progression of American firearms.

EMP®

The EMP® is one of the very best concealed carry option 1911-A1 pistols on the market. The small size is achieved through 15 re-engineered parts to make the pistol smaller. The grip is smaller, so you can control it easier than others, therefore the recoil seems softer. The EMP® is being described as a new class of gun, "the short-action 1911-A1."
